HOW DOES GALLERY GALA WORK? All of the objects in the current West Wing exhibition are for sale by silent auction; this is your biennial opportunity to purchase artworks directly from the Museum’s walls. The gavel will come down on all sales at 3pm on 19 November. We are accepting bids now. If you’d like to place a bid, note the artwork’s title and visit the Guest Services Desk. If there is additional interest in your choice, the event staff will keep you informed of any advancement bids so that you may jump into the fray and stay ahead of the competition.

CAN’T LIVE WITHOUT YOUR CHOSEN OBJECT? Use the BUY IT NOW option. Place a bid at the listed BUY IT NOW price and the object will be yours. You must be the first bidder to use this option. After an object receives its first bid, the BUY IT NOW option is canceled, and the current bid is listed on the label.

ABOUT THE ARNOT MUSEUM

The Arnot Art Museum is a world-class institution of fine art in downtown Elmira, New York USA. Housed in its original 1833 showcase with a grand late-twentieth century gallery addition, the Museum displays its permanent collection of seventeenth- to nineteenth-century European paintings, nineteenth- and twentieth-century American art and collections of Asian, Egyptian, Pre-Columbian, and Native American collections. Temporary exhibitions highlight various aspects of the collections and include works from around the world. Its nationally-recognized serial exhibition Re-presenting Representation features the best in contemporary representational art and complements the Museum’s growing collection of contemporary work.

The Museum, located at 235 Lake Street in Elmira, New York, is open Tuesday through Friday from 10am to 5pm, and Saturday from 12n to 5pm.
